MISSION AND VISION

To provide life-enriching activities and care for adults with memory loss as well as support and respite for caregivers.

ABOUT THE CENTER

The Johnson Center is a specialized facility in Englewood providing adult day activities to those with memory or physical impairments. Respite, education and case management services are provided for caregivers. The facility, the only free-standing day center in Denver specifically designed for those with memory loss, includes secured outdoor gardens and paths, multi-level activity centers to accommodate the changing needs of participants as well as daytripping programs and full-time medical over site by a registered nurse. It is a non-profit Center supported by Total Longterm Care, fundraising events, donations and volunteer services.

HISTORY AND CLIENTELE

In the 1980s, Swedish Hospital and the foundation supporting its community programs founded the first day-time program for people living with Alzheimer's disease in the Denver area. In 1996, the Francis K. Johnson Center was built to house the growing program. For more than 10 years, The Johnson Center, specifically designed for those with dementia, has been setting the standard for activity-based, client-centered care and support for adults with a range of health challenges, including Alzheimer's and Parkinson's disease, or the after-effects of stroke. In 2008, the Johnson Center joined forces with Total Longterm Care, another adult day company that provides healthcare and support to help seniors stay as healthy as possible while remaining in their own homes and communities.

The Johnson Center enjoys more than 15,000 participant visits annually and tallies an average of 200 daytrips. This would not be possible without the help of many organizations in the community including The Colorado Health Foundation and the Alzheimer's Association, Colorado Chapter, as well as volunteers from the Swedish Medical center and physician residents of The Colorado Healthy Foundation.

Activities are geared to the participant's ability level, encouraging group participation, socialization, maximum mobility, and good times. We enjoy one of the highest staff retention levels in the business and we ensure extraordinary care and security for all of our participants.
